

【Event Name】 The 56th (2025) Japanese Nursing Society Academic Conference 【Due Data】 September 12 to September 14, 2025 (Announcement date 9.13) 【Venue】 Port Messe Nagoya 【Participants】 Kyushu University Hospital Nursing Department ; Megumi Teshiba, Nayu Araki, Chiho Yodogawa, Chieko Fujioka, Noriko Watanabe School of Health Sciences ; Kumiko Sakai	【Overview】 At the 56th (2025) Japanese Nursing Society Academic Conference held at Port Messe Nagoya, Megumi Teshiba, a member of the research team for the collaborative research theme 'Effects of Nurse-led Acute Oral Care Interventions for Patients with Oral Cancer' from the Critical Nursing Care Development Unit, presented her findings on 'Changes in Self-Efficacy Regarding Perioperative Oral Care for Patients with Oral Cancer'. Participants asked questions about the characteristics of patients with high self-efficacy and the guidance being conducted on the wards, leading to a lively exchange of opinions.

Presentation slides

At the presentation venue	Conference Poster